Conflict

COPYMASTER

Directions: Read each item. Think of a conflict to continue the story. Write the conflict on the lines. The conflict should match the type shown in parentheses.

1. “The bear must still be hungry,” whispered Rose. He had already gone through the garbage looking for food and now was lumbering dangerously close to the picture window on the porch.

External Conflict with a Force of Nature: _____

2. Danni didn’t know what to do. Yes, she had told Rose she would go to the movies with her Friday night. But that was before Teri had invited her to her sleepover.

Internal Conflict: _____

3. Yesterday, Leni had left her sandals lying next to the lilac bush. Today, when Chico mowed the lawn, the grass was so high he never saw them until it was too late.

External Conflict with Another Character: _____

4. Charlene’s big brother Noah was a pacifist and didn’t believe in fighting wars. Unfortunately, he lived in a country that required every citizen to serve in the military.

External Conflict with Society: _____
